

GOVERNMENT INFORMATION DAY

2013 VENDORS & EXHIBITORS

Indiana Dept. of Revenue/Dept. of Labor

INDIGO

Indiana State Library

Division of Historic Preservation and Archaeology (DNR)

IUPUI Polis Center

IOT/Indiana Broadband Map

Indiana State Police (ISP)

Explosive Ordnance; Explosive Ordnance Detection K-9 and handler (ISP)

Indiana Historical Bureau

Library of Congress

Proquest

Indiana Secretary of State/Investment Watch

Indiana Coalition for Open Government

EBSCO

Census Bureau

Hein Company

Indiana Civil Rights Commission

Indiana Supreme Court

Department of Workforce Development/Hoosiers by the numbers

LexisNexis

Indiana Commission on Public Records

Westlaw

CJ's Sweet Creations

Indiana Housing and Community Development Authority

What questions would you have for a government official?

GOVERNMENT

the system of rule by which a nation or state is governed.

DAY

the average length the earth makes one rotation on its axis.

GOVERNMENT INFORMATION DAY
TUESDAY, APRIL 9, 2013
INDIANA STATE LIBRARY

INFORMATION

knowledge gained through communication, research, etc.

2013

the 2013th year in the Anno Domini (AD) designation.

What does the government documents community do with federal & state records they receive?

Government Information: of the People, by the People, for the People, but where can I find it?

SPECIAL THANKS TO:

INDIGO for providing today's complementary the breakfast and refreshments.

The Indiana Historical Bureau for assisting with speaker gifts.

Welcome to Government Information Day

Dear Colleagues:

Thank you for joining us this afternoon for Indiana's inaugural Government Information Day at the Indiana State Library. Librarians & information professionals provide the crucial link between information and communities we serve as well as a vital role in acquisition, organization, dissemination, and preservation of information, particularly government information.

Today, we join to celebrate and educate on the crucial role we as information professionals accomplish daily in the dissemination and provision of vital government documents.

Your participation in Government Information Day is a great way to share your online services and promote public access to government information via government agencies, libraries, and local data centers. This is a unique opportunity to share ideas and network with professionals who serve Hoosiers in hundreds of communities throughout the state and Americans across the nation.

I welcome all of today's attendees and thank our incredible lineup of presenters. I hope you find your stay in Indianapolis enjoyable and look forward to meeting the many unheralded professionals that make the universal decimation of government information an invaluable service for all citizens.

Sincerely Yours,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Roberta L. Brooker". The signature is written in a cursive style.

Roberta L. Brooker
State Librarian of Indiana

SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

Jackie Nytes

Jackie Nytes returned to the Indianapolis Public Library in 2012 to be the new Chief Executive Officer. She also served the Library from 1988 until 2003 as the CFO and the Associate Director for Management Services. During her time away, Jackie served the State as the President of the Indiana Economic Development Council and the City as the Executive Director of the Mapleton Fall Creek Development Corporation. Twelve years on the Indianapolis City County Council has given Jackie a unique perspective on the role of the Library in our community. Ms. Nytes also serves on the Boards of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, the International Center of Indiana, and Citizens Energy Trust.

Paul Reyes

Paul Reyes began his career at the U.S. Census Bureau after a brief career as an elementary school math and science teacher in Houston, Texas. He first developed education materials for the U.S. Census Bureau's Census In Schools Program that promoted the 2010 Census and Census Bureau products. His professional journey at the U.S. Census Bureau has brought him to the Governments Division where works in the Outreach and Education Branch raising awareness about the statistics available about state and local governments.

Carol Rogers

Carol Rogers is Deputy Director and CIO of the Indiana Business Research Center. She is also adjunct faculty in the School of Journalism at IUPUI, sits on the boards of the national Association of University Business and Economic Research and the Indiana Geographic Information Council, and is the Governor's Census Liaison. Rogers is executive editor for the Indiana Business Review (a quarterly publication) and InContext (a bi-monthly e-zine devoted to intelligence about the workforce and economy).

Phil Worrall

Phil Worrall is the Executive Director of the Indiana Geographic Information Council (IGIC). IGIC is a 501c3 non-profit organization with a 30-member board of directors and general membership of over 300 GIS professionals. As Executive Director, Phil leads IGIC's efforts in the statewide coordination of Indiana GIS through dissemination of data and data products, education and outreach, adoption of standards, building partnerships, and the IndianaMap. Phil has over 35 years of private industry experience working in the mapping sciences.

SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

Stephen M. Hayes

Stephen M. Hayes is Director of the Thomas Mahaffey, Jr. Business Information Center at the University of Notre Dame's Hesburgh Libraries. He is a strong advocate for connecting students and faculty with government information. Steve has twice served on the Depository Library Council to the Public Printer of the United States and continues to review and comment on legislation and regulation for the American Library Association. He taught formal courses in government and business information to library students and more recently business information courses to business students through the Mendoza College of Business.

Steve Laue

Steve Laue is an Information Services Specialist at the U.S. Census Bureau's Chicago Regional Office. He is also the primary Census liaison to state and regional government agencies within the Chicago Census region. In his twenty plus years with the Census Bureau, Steve has supervised more than 25 local Special Censuses and provided training and technical assistance to local governments participating in several geographic mapping and address review partnership programs in preparation for the 2010 Census. He has also worked as a demographic/economic consultant serving both public and private sector clients.

Connie Lawson

Connie Lawson serves as Indiana's 61st Secretary of State. Prior to serving as Secretary of State, Lawson served in the Indiana Senate for sixteen years and as Clerk of the Hendricks County Circuit Court for eight years. During her term as a state senator, Lawson chaired the Local Government and Elections Committees and the Joint Rules Committee. In 2012 she received the Mental Health America of Indiana's Lifetime Achievement Award and the Indiana Association of Rehabilitation Facilities' Career Recognition Award for her efforts to help raise awareness and improve the lives of disabled Hoosiers.

Lou Malcomb

Lou Malcomb has enjoyed working with government information for more than thirty-five years. She currently serves as Head of Government Information, Maps, and Microforms and as the Geosciences Librarian at Indiana University Bloomington, specializing in U.S. and Indiana documents. In 2009, she received the Documents to the People Award from ALA's Government Documents Roundtable. She was one of the founding members of INDIGO. Her primary interest is assisting researchers in locating government information sources but has published articles on Popular Names of U.S. Government Reports, Historical information in scientific geologic reports, and Indiana documents including local/municipal publications.

GID13 SCHEDULE

9:00 AM – 9:30 AM

Registration	Great Hall
Information Tables	Great Hall
Poster Sessions	Indiana Authors' Room
Coffee & pastries, sponsored by INDIGO	History Reference Room

9:30 AM – 9:45 AM

Welcome Address:	History Reference Room
Roberta Brooker, State Librarian and Director, Indiana State Library

9:45 AM – 10:40 AM

Keynote Address	History Reference Room
Tony Fargo, Associate Professor and Director, Center for International Media Law and Policy Studies, Indiana University - Bloomington,

10:45 AM – 11:15 AM

Session 1	History Reference Room
Connie Lawson, Indiana Secretary of State

11:30 AM – NOON

Session 2:	History Reference Room
Social Media and Government Information; How do we use contemporary tools in the delivery of government information?
Paula Freund, Press Secretary, Office of Mayor Greg Ballard

NOON – 1:00 PM

Lunch:
Catered box lunches are available for purchase at the Indiana State Library. There are also many restaurants within walking distance.

GID13 SCHEDULE

1:00 PM – 2:00 PM

Panel Discussion: History Reference Room
Opportunities & Challenges in the Delivery of Government Information

Moderator: Andrea M. Morrison, Cataloger, Government Documents & Adjunct Professor of Government Information, Indiana Univ., Bloomington

Panel Members:

Lou Malcomb, Head, Government Information, Maps, & Microform Services & Geosciences Library, Indiana University - Bloomington
Phil Worrall, Executive Director, Indiana Geographic Information Council
Carol Rogers, Deputy Director, Indiana Business Research Center, Kelley School of Business, Indiana University
Jackie Nytes, Chief Executive Officer, Indianapolis Public Library
Stephen Hayes, Director, Mahaffey Business Information Center, Notre Dame University

Information Tables & Vendors Available Great Hall
Poster Sessions Indiana Authors' Room

2:15PM – 3:15 PM Concurrent Census Sessions

Session 3: History Reference Room
Census Data Collection and Access Through the Decades
Stephen Laue, Information Services Specialist, Chicago Region, U.S. Census Bureau

Session 4: Indiana Authors' Room
Overview of the Census of Governments
Paul Reyes, Government Statistics from the U.S. Census Bureau

3:15 PM – 4:00 PM

Session 5: History Reference Room
Digital Accountability: The line between producing and preserving digital Government Information
Mary Alice Baish, Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office

SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

Mary Alice Baish

As Assistant Public Printer, Superintendent of Documents, Baish leads the U.S. Government Printing Office agency in providing public access to Government information published by the U.S. Congress, Federal agencies, and the Federal courts. Baish focuses her efforts on the Federal Depository Library Program (FDLP) in cooperation with Congress and GPO's library partners. She also oversees the policy and strategy for GPO's Library Services and Content Management unit, Publication and Information Sales unit and the management of GPO's Federal Digital System (www.fdsys.gov). Her goals as Superintendent of Documents have been to become more open and transparent by improving communications with the library community and other stakeholders; to enhance GPO's virtual training opportunities; and to collaborate with the community on the future of the Federal Depository Library Community through the FDLP Forecast Study.

Roberta L. Brooker

Roberta Brooker is the State Librarian and the Director of the Indiana State Library. She has spent nearly two decades at the State Library, starting as a Reference Librarian in 1988. She has taught Government Information classes for IUPUI's School of Library Science and supports the library community in Indiana as a teacher and mentor. Under her direction, the State Library has succeeded in making its collections more accessible to the public, while preserving them for future generations.

Tony Fargo

Tony Fargo, our keynote speaker, has been a strong voice in journalism and government information for many years. Once a journalist himself, Tony has taught at the Indiana University School of Journalism since 2004. He teaches media law and policy, media ethics, newspaper writing and reporting, newspaper editing, and has written articles on topics such as First Amendment rights, information gathering, and attitudes about access to public information. Recently he became Director of the Center for International Law and Policy Studies in the School of Journalism.

Paula Freund

Paula Freund is Press Secretary to Indianapolis Mayor Gregory A. Ballard. She manages daily communications for the Mayor and executive team, strategizes communications plans with staff, and develops and maintains a strong, transparent relationship with media and external partners. She became Press Secretary in March 2010, after serving for two years as Public Information Officer for the Indianapolis Department of Parks and Recreation. Her service to the City of Indianapolis was preceded by an eight-year career in journalism, mostly spent in various editing capacities at The Indianapolis Star.